

MINE DISPUTE SENT BACK TO PRESIDENT

WLB Also Orders Parley Ended Until Miners Return To Work.

WASHINGTON, June 2—The war labor board checked the coal strike back to President Roosevelt today for such action as he might deem appropriate and told the disputing parties to stop their negotiations.

President John L. Lewis and the operators' representatives began on fresh efforts to settle their dispute, which has resulted in a million miners staying away from work in the war-torn country.

The board unanimously said "any agreement on the part of the parties while the workers are on strike and the negotiations are subject to 'strike' status will not be considered."

Lewis said the government appeal to get the mines going again was a matter "to be given consideration."

Lewis estimated that only 49 days supply of coal lies above ground, and steel centers indicated their output would be affected seriously in a matter of days. Spokesman for U. S. Steel at Pittsburgh said production would be "very much curtailed in three or four days."

The miners and the operators, who met for joint session immediately without making any progress, they had suspended negotiations while waiting for a pending announcement from the board.

The text of the telegram: "By unanimous vote of the national war labor board the board orders that the existing strikes and stoppages of work in the national fields constitute an unexcused violation of the no-strike pledge and a defiance of the board's directive order of May 25, 1943. Therefore in conformity with the procedures of the war labor board which have been uniformly applied in all past cases in which either party violated the no-strike pledge and defiance of the board's directive order of May 25, 1943, the board hereby directs that the negotiations between the parties on the issues referred to them by the directive order of May 25, 1943, in this case shall cease immediately until the mine workers return to work in compliance with the board's directive order of May 25, 1943. The board further notifies the parties that any agreement on the issues referred to by the parties while the workers are on strike and under the procedure of this strike order will not be considered or approved by the board. The board referring this case to the President for such action as he deems appropriate."

Others Get Message

The message was addressed to Lewis, Edward R. Burke, president of the Southern Coal Producing Association; Charles O'Neil, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee of the Appalachian joint conference, and Ezra Van Horn chairman of the joint negotiating committee.

The May 25 directive ordered resumption of collective bargaining on the major issues, such as port-to-port pay, the six-day week, charges for equipment used by the miners, and certain contract wording.

The order called for a report in the WLB within ten days and said the parties shall continue the uninterrupted production of coal under the contract terms and conditions that existed on and prior to March 31, 1943.

Earlier the producers and Lewis had called another conference in Washington (10 a. m. EWT) with the expressed intention of putting at the problem from the beginning. This was decided on after each side rejected the other's compromise offer yesterday when the 15-day strike expired and 500,000 coal diggers quit work.

Strike Against U. S.

Interior Secretary Ickes termed their action a strike against the government. As fuels administration has been operating the mines by presidential direction since the wage argument came to a stalemate May 1.

Ickes urged resumption of work, declared Lewis could not escape responsibility for the stoppage and at the same time criticized a few powerful operators for what he called their uncompromising attitudes.

Fight for Anti-Strike Law Carried To Floor of House

WASHINGTON, June 2—As the fight to take the measure of anti-strike law, Rep. Gore (D-Mo.) led the house today that the measure on anti-strike legislation, which the miners' leader and other home grown dictator had made amenable to the government.

Gore's speech opened the floor for the Smith-Connally bill, which provides for a 30-day cooling off period and a secret ballot of workers before they could be called in other war industries.

It followed refusal of the house military committee on a tie vote to eliminate from the measure the sections calling for the 30-day notice and the strike ballot.

The committee overwhelmingly struck from the bill, however, an administration-opposed provision giving employees in government-operated plants the right to go before the war labor board to seek pay raises or changed working conditions. Administration spokesmen said this provision would put the government in the position of bargaining field and might cause employees to seek government operation for bargaining purposes.

The committee also removed a ban against issuance by the war labor board of closed shop or union membership orders.

Gore told the house that unless Congress acted immediately, Lewis would continue to regard himself above the law, thus degenerating the law, thus degenerating the law.

NORTH BAY, Ontario, June 2—Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, former physician to the Dionne quintuplets, died today in a hospital here. He was 60 years old.

Dr. Dafeo, who gained international prominence nine years ago when he attended the quintuplets at birth, died at 11 a. m. five minutes after he had been admitted to the hospital.

Dr. D. A. Campbell of North Bay, who was at the bedside, said death was due to pneumonia. Dr. Dafeo had returned to his home in North Bay, Ont. (Turn to DAFOE, Page 9)

Marion, Galion Fliers Receive Awards for Bravery in Tunisia

Sgt. Robert Lyle Snyder Gets Posthumous Oak Leaf Cluster; Sgt. D. B. Smith Gets Award.

The late Staff Sgt. Robert Lyle Snyder of Marion is among a group of Ohio officers and enlisted men who have just been awarded decorations from the war department for exceptional aerial performances in the Tunisian campaign. The Associated Press reported today from Washington that the decorations were being awarded to Sgt. D. B. Smith of Galion, who will receive an Oak Leaf cluster to go with previously awarded air medals.

Sgt. Snyder's award will be posthumously as he was reported killed in action the week of April 19. He had previously been reported missing in action. His father, Clay Snyder, of north of Mt. Gilead, is expected to receive the award.

BOYS TRY ESCAPE AT JUVENILE HOME

Caught Breaking Through Wall, They're Moved to Jail.

A group of five Zanesville boys who admitted a series of escapades that started with the theft of an automobile in Newark Sunday made an unsuccessful bid for freedom when placed in the Marion county juvenile detention home last night.

The first step in their attempted escape was to dismantle, completely, a chair in the room in which they were quartered at the detention home. They used the pieces to start gouging the plaster off the wall to get into an adjoining room. Home officials heard the disturbance caused by their efforts and caught some digging at the wall, partly concealed by a blanket they had hung from a bunk.

The youths had knocked off a strip of plastering one and one-half feet wide and nearly four feet long when they were discovered. Juvenile court authorities, notified of what had happened, sent three of them to the county jail.

Ironically, if the boys had made their way through the wall they were working on, they would have been in another locked room, officials said.

The five were arrested early this morning after they had been picked up by railroad police at the Union Station last night. The ages of the boys range from 14 to 18.

The boys were charged with auto larceny after admitting that they stole a car in Newark Sunday, police said. The car, stolen Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in Newark, was recovered here by city police on the same day at 3:57 p. m. after it was involved in an accident on North Main street with a car driven by Donald Gorenflo, 18, of 473 East Main street.

After the accident, police said the boys hopped an Erie freight train to Kent. At Kent they caught another freight train which they thought was headed for Columbus. The train carried them to Marion, however, where a railroad policeman picked them up and took them to the detention home last night.

MARION COUPLE NEAR DEATH FROM EXPLOSION AND SHOOTING AT HOME

Allies Set Record in May for Sinking of U-Boats

LONDON, June 2—Increasingly deadly Allied convoy escort services sank more enemy submarines in May than in any other month of the war and in the past two months the number of operating U-boats in the Atlantic appears to have decreased, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, declared today.

He told the house of commons that in the last 12 months the total enemy submarines sent to the bottom exceeded the number sunk in all of the previous war period and that in the last six months the rate of destruction was 25 per cent above the previous half year.

He said it appeared the number of sea marauders sent to the bottom during the month just ended was greater than the Germans could produce in all the facilities available to them.

Besides those sunk a large number of the sea prowlers were damaged in various attacks by allied naval and air attacks, Alexander reported.

In the past two months, he asserted, the number of U-boats in Atlantic waters appears to have decreased. This, he said, no doubt was due to more than one cause, but the principle one undoubtedly was due to the rising rate of this destruction.

His statement disclosed that in April and May merchant shipping losses were reduced below the level of the three months from December to February after heavy losses in March.

(A DNB report broadcast today from Berlin and recorded by The Associated Press listed 60 British and American merchantmen, totalling 380,000 tons, as sunk in May by Nazi submarines. This was a drastic reduction compared with the usual monthly totals issued by the Germans.

(The German summary also credited Nazi aircraft with sinking an additional 30,000 tons of allied shipping in May.)

ALLIED SHIPS SHELL ITALIAN ISLAND TWICE

Attack by Warships May Be Prelude to Landing Operations from Sea.

ALLIED warships have shelled the assault on the Mediterranean island of Pantelleria, it was announced today, bombarding the so-called "Italian Gibraltar" twice within 48 hours in what may be the prelude to a landing attack.

Pantelleria lies 45 miles east of Cap Bon, Tunisia, and about half way across the Sicilian strait toward Sicily.

In allied hands, the island would serve as a convenient stepping-stone for invasion of either Sicily or the Italian mainland.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters shelled the island yesterday afternoon and Sunday night, transferring the aerial havoc inflicted on the Italian outpost day after day, virtually non-stop, ever since the fall of Tunisia May 12.

Barracks Hill

Naval salvoes fell on the barracks and artillery batteries, Gen. Eisenhower's command said, and although there was some retaliatory fire from the shore in yesterday's daylight attack, the allies suffered neither damage nor casualties.

Once again, the double-barrelled thrust pointed up allied control of Mediterranean waters without interference by the shore-bound Italian fleet.

The communiqué said American warplanes also battered at Pantelleria and returned to the assault on Italy's other chief island strongholds of Sicily and Sardinia hammering supply ships, railways, docks and a seaplane base.

Other world events at-a-glance:

Battle of Atlantic—British admiralty chief says May was war's best month for number of U-boats sunk, more enemy submarines destroyed in last 12 months than in whole war period before Berlin admits sharp drop in U-boat sinkings.

Russia—Red army fliers pound German airbases, both sides probe for weak spots.

Southwest Pacific—American long-range drop 30 tons of explosives on Japanese base at Lae, New Guinea, June 1. S. Flying Fortress, attacked by 16 Japanese zeros, shoots down five enemy planes and returns to base.

Burma—Monsoon rains flood Arakan front.

U. S. West Coast—Army disclosed Japanese plane made sneak incendiary attack on Oregon timberland eight months ago.

Italian headquarters, acknowledging the naval attack on Pantelleria, asserted that "immediate reaction by our artillery forced the enemy to interrupt the bombardment" and claimed an allied destroyer was severely damaged.

Admit Heavy Damage

"Repeated air incursions against the island caused heavy damage to buildings," the Italian communiqué said.

The Fascist command also admitted allied bombers heaped fresh destruction on the big supply port of Naples and two other Italian mainland cities, Portico and Paola, and struck at Palermo and Marsala in Sicily.

In northern Europe, the RAF's big bombers apparently remained on the ground overnight after a week of record-breaking attack.

ACTOR MISSING

LESLIE HOWARD ON LOST PLANE

Noted Actor One of 13 on Craft Believed Shot Down by Germans.

LONDON, June 2—A spokesman for the British overseas airways said today that a British passenger airliner "disappeared yesterday enroute to England from Lisbon, and reports from the Portuguese capital said the actor, Leslie Howard, was among the 13 passengers."

A Lisbon dispatch reported that the last word heard from the plane was "enemy plane attacking us."

Kenneth Stonehouse, former chief of bureau at Washington for Reuters news agency who was enroute to London to take a new assignment, was said to be aboard the aircraft with Mrs. Stonehouse.

The reports from Lisbon said the plane with its Dutch crew was shot down in the stormy bay of Biscay about half way between Lisbon and England and that concern was felt over weather reports which indicated it would have been difficult for the passengers to take to their rubber boats.

A Berlin broadcast, reporting from Lisbon that the plane was missing, said "it was feared it met with an accident."

Earlier, the German communiqué reported Nazi reconnaissance planes had shot down three allied bombers and "one transport over the Atlantic."

Carried 13 Passengers

The overseas airways spokesman said the plane was carrying 13 passengers and that one of the aircraft was shot down.

TEACHER AND WIFE FIGURE IN TRAGEDY

Police Say Attempted Killing and Suicide Climax of Domestic Quarrels.

A Marion man and his wife are near death in the Marion City hospital today as a result of what city police termed an attempted murder and suicide, culminating what appeared to have been a long domestic misunderstanding.

They are Terley Vance, 38, and Gladys Davis Vance, 39, of 313 North State street. Mr. Vance is principal of the Glenwood elementary school and formerly was a member of the faculty of the North Main street school.

City police said that Mr. Vance was seriously hurt over his entire body in an explosion which rocked the Vance home and nearby houses shortly before 6:30 a. m. today. From Mr. Vance, whom police questioned at the hospital, it was learned that the explosion occurred as he prepared to light a cigaret.

Police Capt. E. C. Mackan, who furnished The Star with details of the tragic circumstance on order of Chief William E. Marks, said that members of the force had been told by Mr. Vance that he awoke a few seconds before 6:30. Feeling groggy he picked up a cigaret, struck a match and immediately, he said, his room became a mass of flames.

Neighbors Sound Alarm

Nearby neighbors, who were awakened by the blast placed at least four fire alarms. Responding to the alarms were the quad company of the Central station and the Mark Street department.

Among the first to arrive in the area was Lewis Chapman, of the Central station. Chapman, contacted at his home today, said he was working with equipment on the quad truck when Mrs. Vance appeared on the front porch of her home and called to him that a man was badly burned inside the house. He then asked her if she had a phone. She answered in the affirmative and he rushed in to the house. She directed him to the phone and in going to a room on the first floor where the phone was located Fireman Chapman noticed Mrs. Vance.

After trying to summon an ambulance twice Chapman then put down the phone, believing that the line was broken. He then returned to the phone and called Police Capt. O. DeWeese to call an ambulance.

Then Chapman went back to work on the quad truck. A few seconds later he and another fireman, Johnny Coehrer, carried a water line to the second floor of the home. In the hallway of the upstairs Chapman found the body of a woman. Upon examination he noticed that she was the same woman he had talked with on the porch only a few seconds earlier. Further examination revealed head wounds and a small chromium-plated revolver.

"I decided this wasn't a matter for the fire department and I then called police officers," Mr. Chapman concluded.

Two Bullets Fired

Police officers upon investigation found the gun in Mrs. Vance's right hand and in her hand a small, empty, chromium-plated revolver. The gun was a live-fire, .25-caliber, four-shot, and two of the four cartridges had been emptied and a third had been fired but did not go off, police reported.

After firemen had extinguished the blaze in Mr. Vance's room police began further investigation during which they found a brand-new .25-foot caliber .20 rubber garden hose. One end of the hose was attached to a small gun in the bathroom and the other end was tied to the foot of Mrs. Vance's bed with a small apron.

This police believe was the cause of the explosion when Mr. Vance lit the cigaret.

Questioned by police in City hospital shortly after the explosion, Mrs. Vance admitted shooting herself, Capt. Mackan said.

At the hospital, it was reported today that a bullet entered Mrs. Vance's head, slightly above the right temple. It was uncertain whether a second bullet entered Mrs. Vance's chest. Because of the empty cartridges police officers a second bullet might be in the wound.

Teacher for 16 Years

Mrs. Vance has taught school for nearly 16 years in seven years in the Marion City schools. He graduated from Vinton High school in Galia county and attended Rio Grande college, Ohio, State university and the University of Wisconsin. He taught at North Main Street school from 1938-1939 and has been principal at Glenwood since 1939.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. (Turn to COUPLE, Page 9)

TAXES AWAIT SENATE VOTE

Final Congressional Approval Near for Modified Ruml Income Levy Plan.

WASHINGTON, June 2—With a certainty reserved only for death and taxes, the senate set the machinery in motion today for final congressional approval of compromise legislation putting all taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Congressional leaders are confident that once legislative formalities are completed, President Roosevelt will sign the bill—or at least let it become law—with these practical results to the average taxpayer:

He will find himself for the first time in his life paying the federal taxes on his income as he earns it, either through a 20 per cent payroll levy which would go into effect July 1, or through quarterly installments made on the basis of his estimated net receipts for the year.

Due in 1944 and '45

He will find, in most instances, 12½ per cent added to the amount he expected to pay out this year in income taxes, plus an identical 12½ per cent the following year, but those extra bills won't be due until March 15 of 1944 and '45.

He will find from 75 to 100 per cent of what he now owes in income taxes abated, but to him that will remain largely a bookkeeping operation until his income declines or until the second certainly—death—steps in. (He will never get any money back, just pay less at some future and uncertain date.)

He will have to pay his June 15 installment on last year's income.

OHIO MOVIE CENSOR INDICTED IN KANSAS CITY

Faces U. S. Charge in Income Tax Case.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 2—A federal indictment today accused Ruth Ladd Curry, 44, of Columbus, an Ohio motion picture censor, and Dahne W. Winebrenner of Galloway, O., of conspiracy to evade payment of Winebrenner's 1941 income tax.

Shortly after the indictment was returned yesterday, Miss Curry and Winebrenner obtained a marriage license here.

Thomas A. Costello, assistant U. S. district attorney, said the accusation against Miss Curry accused her of "aiding and abetting" in a conspiracy to evade taxes and falsify and conceal material facts.

She was arrested while awaiting to appear before the U. S. grand jury, now in session.

Winebrenner, former sales manager of the Baker-Lockwood Manufacturing Co. of North Kansas City, is under indictment in a war contract fraud case.

Miss Curry pleaded innocent before a U. S. commissioner. Bond was set at $2,500 and June 21 was set for preliminary hearing.

Joe Voll, Veteran Tailor, Dies

Joseph Voll, 74, a custom tailor in Marion many years, died in his home at 327 Lafayette street last night at 9:45 after an extended illness.

He came from Germany in 1890 and set up a tailoring establishment here. He retired two and a half years ago when a son, Francis, succeeded him in the business at 133 North Main street. He worked, however, until last October when he became ill. Nov. 3, 1947, he left for a visit to Germany, returning Dec. 30 the same year.

Coming to this country in 1890, he first went to Circleville where a brother resided and after a year went to Chicago where he stayed for a year before coming to Marion.

He set up a tailoring establishment at 129 North Main street, upstairs in the old Breene building where he remained in business 46 years. The present place of business, 133½ North Main, was chosen in 1940.

132 TONS OF BOMBS BLAST JAP BASES

Fortresses and Liberators Attack Without Opposition.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 2—Flying Fortresses and Liberators have blasted the Japs of 132 tons of bombs within less than a week upon Lae and Wewak, New Guinea, without being challenged by a single Japanese plane.

Yesterday, emboldened by successes under cover of darkness, Liberators struck the enemy's airbase at Wewak, dropping 30 tons of bombs and dropping 30 tons of incendiary bombs on the Japanese airbase at Wewak.

Within the week, 100 tons of explosive incendiary and fragmentation bombs have fallen upon the Japanese in three raids by allied planes. Lae is 110 miles away from the Japanese base at Wewak.

Above 12,000 feet, the Wewak supply base on New Guinea was hit by 32 tons of bombs. Within the week, 32 tons of bombs have been dropped in two raids on Wewak.

What happened yesterday, just above Lae at Wewak, when 16 Fortresses, a single Flying Fortress, may supply the tip as to why the Japanese are loath to challenge the bombers which come in force. From 200 feet up to 13,000 feet that giant of the skies fought it out with the swarm of interceptors. Three of the crew were wounded. One of its engines was shot out. Two others were hit.

Still it refused to go down. Four zeros were sent tumbling and spinning into the sea. A fifth crashed in the trees along the shore. A sixth went into a steep dive and may have suffered the fate of the other five. But the bomber, although badly shot up, limped back to its base, after the other zeros fled.

U. S. Cutter Sinks Nazi U-Boat

Dramatic surface battle between the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Spencer and a German submarine, which ended with the U-boat's sinking, is shown in the three photos above. When the Spencer detected the sub beneath the surface near a convoy in the Atlantic, it fired several depth charges (top photo), driving the enemy craft to the surface. The U-boat is pictured (center), during the close-range engagement as the Spencer raked it with gunfire. As the U-boat sank (lower photo), a small boat from the cutter pulled up to it to rescue surviving members of the crew. (Int. Soundphotos.)

85 PER CENT OF OHIO CORN IS UNPLANTED

Experts Say Farmers Still Can Expect Good Crop.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., June 2 — Eighty-five per cent of Ohio's corn acreage still is unplanted but farmers can expect a good crop, Ohio State university agronomists reported.

Crop and extension experts meeting yesterday estimated half the 3,500,000 acres used for corn each year still were not plowed. They agreed, however, that corn planted before June 25 for grain and July 1 for silage probably would produce more feed per acre than any other grain crop.

Farmers planting corn between June 20 and 25 have a 50-50 chance of raising a crop which will mature, they said.

Methods suggested to speed planting included an exchange of labor among neighbors, one planting while the other prepared the ground, and drilling corn instead of check-rowing it.

Increased application of fertilizer were advised as a growing aid, 300 pounds per acre being recommended for drilled corn and 150 for check-rowing.

A planting delay similar to this year's occurred 10 years ago, extension specialists said, but the crop was good.

Final Ohio planting dates recommended for other crops were: Sugar beets, June 15; soybeans, July 1; and tomato plants for commercial canneries, June 20.

PERMIT USE OF NITROGEN
By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 2 — The war food administration has announced it will permit the use of chemical nitrogen in 1943 fall-sown grains to increase production of livestock feeds. Such use was prohibited in 1942. The action affects chiefly the eastern soft red winter wheat production area, particularly Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania and some of the southern states.

Civilian Casualties High in United Kingdom

By The Associated Press
LONDON, June 2 — Two civilians were killed or injured in air raids in the United Kingdom during the first three years of the war for every five casualties among the kingdom's armed forces, an analysis of official figures showed today.

Total casualties among the fighting men of the United Kingdom during that period, Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced yesterday, were 275,844. Total civilian air raid casualties for the same period were 102,934 — or 47,291 killed and 55,643 injured.

Since then civilian casualties have risen to 108,518 — including 48,723 killed and 57,795 wounded — at the end of March, the last announced figure.

UNIONS GIVEN HIRING RIGHTS

Broad Authority Extended by McNutt in Steel Mill Action.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 2 — In an action apparently without precedent, Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt yesterday gave labor unions a right to be consulted on hiring and discharge actions taken by steel plants under his order putting the steel industry on a 48-hour work week throughout the country.

War manpower commission officials said it was the first time the government had ever conferred this right on labor. Steel industry representatives, they said, fought the provision on the ground that it interfered with a "purely management function."

At the same time McNutt extended the effective date of his May 1 order for the industry to get on a 48-hour week from July 1 to August 1.

He decreed that exemptions from the order could be granted only "for reasons beyond the control of the employer" except in cases of certain office workers, and could last "only as long as the circumstances on which the exemption was based continue to exist."

Power over the grant of exemptions and release of workers by plants going on a 48-hour week was given to regional WMC directors, who were directed to consult with "representatives of management and of the collective bargaining agency" in each plant before making their decisions.

Industry representatives, contending that steel output was already above 98 per cent of capacity and could not be increased by lengthening hours, had asked broad exemptions while representatives of the CIO-United Steel Workers had objected to providing a gateway to "too liberal" exemptions.

The new provisions were in regulations sent regional directors to guide them in applying his original order, which was issued just one month ago today.

The regulations, for the first time, set a deadline for release of workers whose services would be rendered unnecessary by lengthening the industry work week, which WMC officials said now averages 41.5 hours on a nationwide basis.

The regulations specified that surplus workers among steel's 525,000 employees must "in any event" be released by August 1 unless the WMC national executive director, Lawrence A. Appleby, approves a later date because of "an exceptional situation."

Ohioans Greet First Day of Liquor Rationing

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., June 2 — Ohioans greeted the first day of liquor rationing with a mild rush to state-owned stores yesterday and found on the list of whiskies available popular brands which have been a party in recent months.

Lines formed in front of many retail stores before they opened at 1 P. M. as Ohioans bought package whiskey for the first time since May 15 when sales were suspended to set up rationing machinery.

Each purchaser is allowed a quart, a fifth or two pints for the period ending June 26.

Food Will Help Win War, Methodists Told

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., June 2 — Sending food to Europe's starving children would "help win the peace," Dr. James W. Johnston of New York, president of the United Methodist Conference, told the Ohio conference of the Methodist church.

"If food relief is postponed much longer," he asserted, "it will be too late. To win the war."

Boss of the Home Front Bosses

Parley Secrecy Defense Scored by Cong. Smith

By CONG. F. C. SMITH
Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion, representing the Eleventh Ohio district, is at Hot Springs, Va., where the United Nations food conference is now in session, and has announced he will remain there until the close of the conference in order to observe the proceedings as best he can, although barred from attending executive sessions, Congressman Smith has informed The Star that he will not report of his observations for publication. One of the chief topics of communication appears below.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., June 2
The state department officials have been vehement in denying that there is anything going on here at Hot Springs that is of a secret nature. Yet they absolutely forbid me and other congressmen, as well as newsmen, to attend any of the meetings or sessions of the delegates here assembled.

They try to pass the whole thing off by saying it is not because they are doing anything they don't want the country to know about that the sessions are held behind closed doors. No, not that, but because, as the chairman of the conference, Judge Marvin Jones, told me again and again, if congressmen and newsmen were allowed to attend the meetings, they might not be as free to express themselves as would otherwise be the case.

Then they always try to bolster their defense of secrecy by attempting to give the impression that this meeting is a wholly innocent sort of thing, where representatives of many nations imbued only with the noblest sentiments and most benevolent intentions prevail have gathered together just to talk things over; that they have no power to commit our country to any international program, that all they can do will be to make recommendations upon which the congress would have to act before any plan they might recommend could be put in operation.

It is a most dangerous fallacy to believe it is as simple and safe as all this might appear to be.

The fact that the administration was able to induce the governments of 44 countries, involving more than a billion souls, to send at great cost, several hundred representatives to meet together here can hardly be considered as a mere gesture that means no more than the possible recommendation by this group to the Congress of the United States of some proposal they may work out.

Things just aren't done that way in the realm of politics. The thinking that evolved this conference included plans for carrying through any proposals it might offer, and likely some it might not offer, by any means political genius could contrive.

Indeed, it is all too evident from my observations here on the ground that the thinking which brought this conference into existence had its blue print completed not only for carrying through any recommendations the conference might offer, but the formulating of the recommendations themselves.

Small seaplane tenders in the U. S. Navy usually take their names from American bays, straits and inlets.

Sears, Roebuck and Co.

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Features Writer.

WASHINGTON—A staunch Democrat who "takes regulations" during the biggest job of "regimentation" in the country's history.

From his office in a new wing of the White House, little 61-year-old head of the new War Relocation Authority, James F. Byrnes, manipulates the nation's economic controls over every Tom, Dick and Mary on the civilian front.

Byrnes' new job gives him overall control over prices, wages and rents of the distribution of food, gasoline and fuel oil and the allocation of manpower. His powers now are even broader than they were when as stabilization director he supervised the rationing policies of Price Administration, Petroleum Administration and Petroleum Administrator Ickes. He put the O. K. stamp on the production program of Food Administrator Chester Davis.

Shies Freezing Orders.
When Warpower Commissioner McNutt ordered the freezing of 27,000,000 workers in essential jobs, the order was countersigned by Byrnes. When the War Labor Board stands against wage increase demands so as to "hold the line" against inflation, the diminutive Byrnes backs up the line.

And when President Roosevelt vetoes a bill to raise parity prices for farm products, ex-Senator Byrnes quietly musters congressional support to "hold the line" against possible overruling of the veto.

Retains Popularity.
Amazing thing about the Byrnes "regimentation" is that amid all the charges of administration bungling on the home front, there has been practically no panicking of "Uncle Jimmy" himself.

Observers attribute this political paradox to three qualifications which make the South Carolinian a natural for handling the troubled job: Extraordinary tact in handling people, great personal popularity among members of both parties in congress, and long experience in handling government problems.

Before his appointment to the supreme court, Byrnes served 10 years in the senate and 14 in the house. He was reputed to be the most skillful legislative operator in modern times.

DECLIFF MAN WEDS
Announcement is being made here of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Marie Hansen, daughter of Mrs. R. D. Durbin of Sacramento, Calif., and Dale Sprague, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sprague of DeCliff, O., in Findlay, O., May 22.

The ceremony was read in the home of the bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Hobart, by Rev. L. E. Ames of the Findlay United Brethren church in the presence of the immediate families. Mrs. Lavon Evans of Findlay was matron of honor and Mr. Hobart was best man. The Spragues will live in Findlay.

MRS. NORA M. FORD of Marion, Ind., is announcing the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Nora M. Ford, to Ensign Charles E. Farr, U. S. Navy, who is stationed at the First Naval District, South Bend, Ind. The wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Ford on Thursday, May 27, with Dr. B. B. Martin reading the double service, in the presence of the immediate families and friends. Ensign and Mrs. Morris Gaebe were the attendants.

After the wedding Mrs. Ford wore a white suit with which she wore blue accessories and her corsage was carnations.

Following the ceremony Ensign Farr and his bride came to Marion for a visit with his parents. Miss Ford attended the University of Illinois and was a member of Gamma Phi Beta. Ensign Farr is a graduate of the University of Illinois and was graduated from the Notre Dame Midshipman school just a few hours before his wedding.

The winners are selected from a large field of applicants on the basis of tests, recommendations and activities and scholastic standing during high school.

Conservationist Points To Feeding Value of Pasture

The cheapest form of feed which farmers can produce for livestock is pasture, according to H. E. Becker, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Morrow county.

Recent rains have made permanent pasture grow more rapidly than livestock can use the grass. Becker stated that by mowing permanent pasture, it can be kept producing most of the summer.

Pasture can be mowed when it is the worst for most other farm works. By mowing the permanent pasture early and keeping it short, new growth is encouraged, weeds are destroyed, and more summer feed for livestock is produced, he said.

Byrnes' New Setup Seen as Another Top Layer on Administrative Cake.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 2 — Mr. Byrnes' new setup is seen as another top layer on the administrative cake, according to a source familiar with the situation. The new setup, which includes the addition of a new member to the cabinet, is seen as a move to strengthen the administration's position in the war effort. The source said that the new setup is a reflection of the administration's desire to have a more unified and efficient government. The new member, who is expected to be announced soon, is seen as a key figure in the administration's plans for the future. The source also said that the new setup is a move to show the public that the administration is committed to the war effort and to the well-being of the country.

"RED LETTER" DAY IN WORLD HISTORY

Good Neighbor Policy In Wartime

By John Lloyd for Associated Press.

IF YOU still don't get the hang of hemispheric solidarity—good neighbor policy—the interdependence of North and South America, here are some facts to set you straight.

The United States has gone all out on war production. This has given Central and South America some stiff problems to face. In San Jose, capital of Costa Rica, the flour supply gave out and the population was without bread for weeks. In some cases now, it's good neighbors or nothing.

The Panama Canal Zone, crowded with fighting men and technicians, is using up large supplies of food and other items. Panama merchants are unable to replace their stocks. There are acute shortages. Costa Rica is exporting everything it can spare to Panama.

Frantic requests from Latin American countries cover everything from food to machinery. In the words of an expert, Hector Lazo, chief of the exports division of the bureau of economic warfare, there is a lot of belt-tightening going on among our neighbors.

Lazo, who traveled with Vice President Wallace on his recent Latin American tour, points out that war needs come first in trade with our neighbors, just as they do in the United States. He advised Latin Americans to make the best of it and told them what is going on here.

Lazo faced questioning in seven countries during the Wallace tour and his answers followed a single theme: All requests will be carefully studied, everything will be done to fill the requests in the order of their importance, direct war needs come first, and the prospects of an immediate sizeable increase in deliveries in general are slim.

Lazo's words were not all bitter pills. He talked about victory and expounded ideas of agricultural and industrial possibilities in Latin America that left happy faces.

Lazo found a bright post-war prospect in store for Colombia. He calls Colombia "one of the coming countries of the new world." It has great possibilities in both industry and agriculture, he says.

He takes a frankly serious view of the situation in Ecuador, pointing out that it has great potential riches but emphasizing its underdevelopment, shortages of mechanical equipment and low interest financing.

Ethel Has a Little Trouble Getting a Birth Certificate Sent Out West to California.

By DAMON RUNYON

Ethel Turp Writes from Los Angeles:

DEAR SIR, I have been having myself a time of it trying to get my job in the factory because my moms can't send me a birth certificate. The something everybody has got to have in the place where they was born and where the date was and everything else if they were born in the factory.

I wrote to my moms back in Brooklyn and she said they had no idea about it and she said she was born and she wrote back and I knew very well that I was born in Brooklyn in the very house where she and my pops were. She said something must have happened to me since I got to California and I remember a thing like that.

Then the next day I got another letter from her and she had written after the first one and she said she was awake all night writing and she said she was remembering where I was born. She said there was something wrong with the house where she and my pops were and she would come out and get me. She said she had not breathed a word about it to anybody else because she didn't want to get into trouble. There was something in her mind.

I wrote her again and told her that I was sorry about my mind because I was so stupid and I knew where I was born and I only the fellow at the factory doesn't know and he's got to have a paper from me before he will put me to work. I told her that and she said she would have a record of everything I said for me.

My moms doesn't like to write letters because she is always busy around the house and she waited a week before she wrote and then she said it wasn't Dr. Levy who was there when I happened sooner than anyone expected and that old Mrs. Barnum was the one who was there and Dr. Levy didn't come in for nearly 15 minutes afterward because he had stopped to take care of Joey Sykes who fell down a coal hole and broke his leg.

My moms said she remembered Dr. Levy being late because my pops was real mad about it. She said my pops told Dr. Levy that if he didn't get somebody's broken leg was more important than his child he would take his business to somebody else the next time. Dr. Levy said well, your child has no business happening ahead of schedule. My moms said she tried to get a piece of paper from old Mrs. Barnum saying when I was born but that Mrs. Barnum is not young any more and has a mix mixed up in her mind with Sadie Lough, although Sadie didn't happen until two days after I did.

I wrote back to my moms and told her I please explain to my pops that I had a birth certificate and to tell him to Dr. Levy and get it because the doctor would have the record and that Mrs. Barnum don't count. Then my moms wrote to me that she hadn't spoken to Dr. Levy since the day I happened and said she couldn't ask him to do it now as he would only get mad.

She said all the fellows at the factory had to do was to ask anybody in our neighborhood in Brooklyn where I was born and they would tell him.

She said it was very funny that he would not take the word of an honest girl like me about a little thing like that and that he must be suspicious of everybody in the world. She wrote to her to please, please, please, see Dr. Levy herself and get the paper to tell me the address and I would write to him for it. I just got her last letter this morning.

MY MOMS said Dr. Levy gave her the paper all right but that she has not sent it to me yet because it says I was born on Oct. 3, 1911 and that my Uncle Ben told her that maybe don't want people in California to know I was that old. She said Uncle Ben says he knows fellow who can change the date on that paper to make me younger in such a slick way nobody can ever tell it and that it will cost me a few dollars.

I have just sent my moms another letter telling her to send me my birth certificate before something really does happen to my mind.

Yours truly,
Ethel Turp

So They Say
Today we stand at the fork of the road with the eyes of all nations upon us. Will America with her matchless power and incomparable strength, the acknowledged leader of modern economic life, now move in the direction of economic self-sufficiency, the policy we Germany pursued, or will America move in the direction of international cooperation, which alone lasting peace can be built?

Francis B. Sayre, special assistant to the secretary of state

We Americans have had to learn a lesson in modern warfare. The Japs surrendered with their hands in the air and as soon as they were ordered by American officers to lower their hands they pulled off hand grenades and tossed them among their captors without warning. Now we don't bother to take them as prisoners.—Capt. Gerald J. Crosson, back from South Pacific.

It makes little difference to the lad in the foxhole on some fever-ridden island in the Pacific whether the boy next to him is a Catholic or Protestant. All he wants is the courage and good marksmanship—Navy Secretary Frank Knox.

Sellishness and complacency in the past made us pay dearly in terms of human suffering. While it may be difficult for us not to be bitterness for the injuries we have suffered at the hands of the aggressors, let us remember that reconciliation and hatred will lead nowhere.—Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

E. A. Vance of 871 Mary street. Mrs. Vance is a native of Oak Hill near Jackson in southern Ohio. She was taught music in the Vinona county public schools before coming here. In recent years she has conducted private classes in piano instruction. At present she has 22 pupils under her guidance.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance have been married over five years.

In recent months Mr. Vance had discussed the possibility of enlisting in the Army, friends reported.

Called Good Neighbors

Neighbors of the Vances said today that Mrs. Vance was a woman who worried considerable and nearly always seemed troubled. Both were described as good neighbors. However nearby residents reported that rarely were the couple seen away from home together. One neighbor said the two had separate interests.

Mr. Vance, the neighbor said, was interested in Civilian Defense service, the Red Cross and similar organizations while Mrs. Vance was interested mainly in music. She was an active member of the Marion Lectures-Recreation club.

Fire damage to the residence was set by Chief T. J. McFarland at about $200. The fire, brain police and fire officials reported, was confined principally to the room in which Mr. Vance was sleeping.

Assisting Capt. Ora DeWoods in conducting the police examination were Patrolmen McClanahan, Tatham and Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance were removed to the hospital in the Smith and Boyd & Unscaper ambulances.

Coast Guard Cutter Bags U-Boat in Thrilling Fight

Undersea Craft Found Lurking in Path of Allied Convoy; 40 Hysterical Survivors Are Rescued.

(Picture on Page 5)
By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 2—Destruction of a German submarine and capture of 40 members of her crew by the Coast Guard cutter Spencer was reported by the Navy today.

With depth charges and roaring guns, the cutter sank the submarine in the Atlantic several weeks ago when the raider was detected lurking in the path of a "large and important convey making for an allied port."

Completely submerged and with her periscope down, the submarine was located by Scandinavian Harold V. Anderson, Kewanee, Ill., and the Spencer, commanded by Commander Harold S. Berdine, 41, of Staten Island, made two depth charge runs over it.

Efforts by the submarine to get under the convey in hope that the noise of the cargo ship's screws would interfere with the Spencer's detection devices failed, and the cutter remained on the raider's trail and dropped a third "basket of eggs."

"The worst threat was now over," the navy related. "Not a fish had been fired, nor had a ship been touched. However, the cutter still continued her pursuit. The U. S. Coast Guard cutter Duane charged in to assist, and the Spencer made ready to let go with her fourth attack when a lookout shouted:

"'Conning tower on the port quarter!'"

Prepared to Ram

"Gun crews on both the ships trained their guns instantly on the submarine, and opened a withering, effective fire. At the same time, the Spencer rang up full speed and headed for the U-boat prepared to ram.

"As the damaged sub moved slowly ahead through the calm seas, members of her crew took stations on the bridge and returned the fire of the American ships with the light gun mounted there.

The Spencer's lifeboats were rattled. A boat Davit was nearly out of two bridge flag bags, bulkheads and door were damaged.

"Submarine crewmen who made for the heavy deck gun, however, were driven back by the accurate fire from the escort vessels' guns.

"Round after round was pumped in the undersea raider, and the after part of the conning tower was completely torn away. Then, just as the Spencer was on the point of ramming, the fire from the submarine suddenly ceased, and many members of her crew were observed abandoning ship through the conning tower.

"The cutter turned aside and waited, ready to resume the assault, but the battle was over. The U-boat's propellers stopped, she dropped lower in the water, then rapidly plummeted down.

40 Swimmers Rescued

"Circling, the Spencer picked up more than 40 submarine crew members who were floating in the water, supported by rafts and life belts. Locating the U-boat's survivors was not difficult; some were on rafts, the others adrift, but all of them safely supported by their escape lungs which were used as life belts. Nevertheless, as they awaited rescue, they acted in a very hysterical manner, shouting and waving arms so frantically that no doubt was left as to their existence and location.

The son was smooth, there was a moderate breeze and conditions were generally fair. No doubt the depth charges and heavy gunfire had unnerved them; several were still hysterical on coming aboard. All prisoners were impressed by the deadliness of the depth charges. Several threw up their hands and exclaimed, "waterbombs, terrible, terrible, terrible!"

And, the navy added, now the men of the Spencer's crew can shave—they had sworn not to shave until their ship had a positive submarine sinking to her credit."

Pvt. Bevard was fined on an assault and battery verdict returned last week by the Crawford county jury that tried him on the slaying charge.

COAL STRIKE

cated the mine walkouts were orderly.

One group of union miners, UMW local 1086 at Gallitzin, Pa., telegraphed President Roosevelt that the 275 men were anxious to return to work. James Stafford, president, said the local would wait a day or two "until the union officials and operators have had a last chance to reach an agreement." Then, he added, a meeting will be called to vote on a return to work. The men, employed at the mine of the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Co., were the first to call off the walkout a month ago.

By ending it quicker "we will cut down the casualties." What a grand goal to work for! But we could fall far short of it if our production were seriously impeded.

This is a great moment in the war. The United Nations are rushing at Hitler for the kill. We need every single ounce of striking power which we can develop.

Delay in essential production might change the course of the war. It might easily protract the European upheaval, with consequent delay in undertaking major operations against Japan.

Apart from everything else, this means more casualties among our boys. Every minute counts. Thousands of men can die in the case fire is given. Even the final sixty seconds take their toll. They die in the last war and will in this.

There's nothing that counts excepting to keep the war-machine running and the flag flying. Even individual lives don't matter, much less material affairs.

No Choice To Quit

A general and his staff can't quit because of difficulties with the troops. And the men in the ranks can't throw down their guns because they don't like the orders of the commander. The two of 'em have to make a go of it whether they want to or not.

In moments of national peril every man, woman and child is in the service of the country. Each one is in the same position as the fighting man, so far as duty is concerned.

Time is a vital element in warfare. Slopwork of a single unit for even a few days may react disastrously on the battle front.

General Henry H. Arnold, chief of the Army air forces, declared yesterday at West Point that the allies will end the war "and end it soon" by bombing.

JAP PLANE ATTACK ON WEST COAST REVEALED

Attempt To Fire Forest Land Thwarted.

By The Associated Press
PORT ORFORD, Ore., June 2

The public learned today of the army's fifth futile attack on the west coast, a sneak incendiary raid by a lone airplane more than eight months ago.

Believed launched from a Japanese submarine last Sept. 28, the plane flew over the Oregon coast in early morning fog so dense a forest service lookout was unable to see the ship although it dropped directly by his tower on a mountain near here.

The lookout, Lauren S. Glebner, followed the sound of the motor as it moved northward. He heard a blast and saw a flash, as if a bomb had been dropped.

Glebner reported to forest headquarters and watched sharply for the fire. When the fog lifted two hours later, he spotted it in a heavily timbered canyon three miles away.

A crew of fire fighters hiked two hours over rugged mountains to reach the blaze and bring it under control.

The Army previously announced a small plane flew in from the sea near Brookings last Sept. 9 and dropped two bombs. This plane also was spotted by a lookout and the fires controlled quickly. Japanese markings were found on fragments of the incendiary bombs.

U. S. ACTS TO CHECK GAS STICKER FRAUD

Action Follows Out of Stamp Value in East.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 2—A shortage in gasoline today brought stern measures from government authorities. An attack on black market dealers in commercial "T" ration is about to be undertaken by the office of defense transportation. The move follows a cut in B and C ration coupons from three to 2½ gallons necessitated by the eastern seaboard famine. The "T" stickers for taxis, buses and trucks, will have a different marking, undischarged until they are issued, to thwart counterfeiting, an ODT spokesman revealed.

World trade continued the prime topic in the senate. The majority forecast passage late today of legislation continuing the administration's right to negotiate international trade agreements which Secretary of State Hull envisages as a keystone in the peace.

Ohio's two Republican senators lined up on opposite sides as administration forces beat off two attempts to amend legislation.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati voted for Republican sponsored amendments to permit congress to end the agreement six months after the war and to ban future pacts unless approved by congress. Sen. Harold M. Burton of Cleveland voted against both.

Pitfalls of Love

By Adele Garrison

"HE COULDN'T have been a real messenger," Mary said. "On the contrary," I said. "I had been sufficiently tipped off by the person who sent him, he wouldn't have been given the message just as it was given to him."

"That's what I thought," Olin said. "I was sure it was a messenger. He had the handwriting on the letter and saw that it had come from Georges. Nobody else in the family would have given me the letter."

I needed a messenger free-handed—

Had to Promise

"Will you promise," the messenger said, "to let me see the letter?" Olin continued, "I'm not to give it to you unless you promise I suppose it was strictly confidential but I saved my conscience by telling it that I wouldn't show the letter to anyone who would injure Georges. So holding out my hand, I said, 'I promise,' and the messenger gave it to me and went away quickly. I read the letter, then came over here as quickly as I could."

"Georges must be in some awful trouble," she concluded, "or else he's trying to help somebody else out. He always was the most generous thing alive."

"What does he want you to do?" I asked. "Go to meet you? Because if he does—"

"No nothing like that," she said quickly. "But it is something even more strange. He wants me to go to a bank, and get him some money."

Olin Is Startled

I was on my feet now, holding out my hand with authority. "Have you the letter with you?" I asked. "If so, please let me see it at once."

She looked up at me startled, and then a wave of scarlet swept her face.

"I don't know that I ought to do that," she hesitated. "You see, Georges has written to me as—"

"He used to do, although—"

"You mean endearing expressions?" I said calmly, and the flush receded, leaving her almost pale.

"Yes," she said, "and I don't think—"

"Olin dear," I said. "I must be brutal to be kind. I know things about this request for money which you don't, and I also know"
